

Take joy in others' joy,
and you get joy to infinity.

Think of a time you felt upset that someone did something better than you. How did you react? Can you use your emotions in a healthy way?

What are some things that are special about you? What do you do well?
